More Witnesses and Long
Speeches Yet to Come in Renaker Murder Trial.

(By Associated Press)

Winchester, Dec. 16—Inquiries today were that the Scobee Hardman case will not be completed before Monday or Tuesday. The defense has at least 15 witnesses and the state has the same number in rebuttal.

O. L. Morgan, of Carlisle, the first witness today, said he was employed by Lee Hardman as a detective in the Renaker murder case. His testimony related to incidents connected with the keys by which Hardman is said to have planned to escape from jail. He denied he furnished Hardman with keys or impressions of them. He asserted Mrs. Douglas, Hardman's sister, at one time gave him impression of some keys which he returned to her.

Another witness, Mrs. William Phillips, said she lives near the Renaker home. On the night of July 24 she heard a scream from the direction of the Renaker home. She could not say whether it was from a man or a woman.

In addition to the examination of a long list of witnesses, both the counsel for the defense and the commonwealth will each make three speeches.

Considerable excitement followed the announcement in court Thursday night that the keys, impressions and the Bible belonging to John Schumaker's mother, all included in the exhibits resting on the prosecution table, have disappeared and no trace of them can be found.

On cross examination of Clyde Douglas, brother-in-law of Scobee Hardman, now on trial charged with the murder of Leon Renaker, County Attorney Herbert Moore, of the commonwealth, indicated at the night session that Douglas had changed his story from the one told the September grand jury. Following his testimony a deputy sheriff announced that all members of the September grand jury present must leave the room as they would be summoned as witnesses.

In the morning and early afternoon, Reese Fox, alleged accomplice of Hardman, was on the stand. Fox admitted he had changed his story but denied that Hardman had intimidated him. He declared he hadn't remembered, until talking over the details with Hardman, what took place the night of July 24.

Fox's grandfather, John Reese, and step grandmother testified that Reese Fox was at home by 12 o'clock the night of July 24, but said the next day he didn't get up until 1 o'clock.

They said they heard him about 6 o'clock in the morning but could not be positive whether he was in the house all night.

After the afternoon session, Judge Shackelford ordered that no children be admitted to the court room during the remainder of the trial. He said the court room was no place for them.

County Attorney Moore asked him: "Did you not tell me Saturday night before the murderer about 10 o'clock, Mrs. Douglas said, 'Grant Robinson was in the car, he and Mr. Renaker took her. She declared she had her baby with her all the time.'

Asked if she wasn't in the habit of leaving her baby with a relative near her home, she said she was not.

Leon Renaker joined them on Saturday night before the murderer about 10 o'clock, Mrs. Douglas said. She declared she had her baby with her all the time.

Monday night, Mrs. Douglas said, Scobee Hardman came in at 20 minutes to 12 o'clock. She had a radiom clock and looked at it, she explained.

Clyde Brock, a farmer, verified Hardman's story that he went to a baseball game Monday afternoon, July 24.

Frank Davis said that Scobee Hardman attended a birthday party at his home Monday night, July 24.

At the morning session, after Hardman had been asked a few unimportant questions, Reese Fox was called.

He did not.

"Did you talk with any of your lawyers about your conversation with me?"

"I do not."

"Did you tell me that to keep me from summoning you as a witness for commonwealth?"

"I did not."

"Did you not know that every member of the Clark county grand jury has been summoned today?"

"I do not."

"Did you talk with any of your lawyers about your conversation with me?"

"I did not."

"Clyde, did you have a talk with Mr. Mifflin, Mr. Slater and myself shortly after Mr. Renaker's body was found?" the attorney questioned.

"I did."

"Do you remember what you

said to us at that time when you came up?"

"I told you Scobee Hardman was present at my house at dinner Friday after the murder."

Asked if he did not state that Hardman had dinner at his home with his wife, Hardman's sister, and that when Mrs. Douglas said the detectives had been down to Austerlitz he noticed a change in Hardman's expression and had never said so.

Douglas said he was looking at Hardman when this news was brought in, but was looking "at the back of his head."

"Didn't you state that when your sister brought in this news he changed expression, blushed and trembled?"

"No, sir."

" Didn't you tell the grand jury that he blushed when this news was brought in, he changed expression and became nervous?"

"No, sir."

" Didn't you tell me on the stairs yesterday that he did change expression?"

"Yes, sir, just said he looked up and looked surprised."

Douglas here stated that he told the grand jury the same story he told on the witness stand. Mrs. Clyde Douglas, sister of Hardman, then was called.

Mrs. Douglas was frequently mentioned in previous testimony as Mrs. Nancy Catherine Renaker's closest friend and the defense has said that Hardman was only with Mrs. Renaker due to his brother's intimacy with her.

Mrs. Douglas said she returned to Winchester from Atlanta the Wednesday before the death of Leon Renaker. Her story corroborated that previously told by her brother concerning his relations with Mrs. Renaker and she declared that although she, Mrs. Renaker and Scobee had been riding together in automobiles to other places, there was nothing improper between Hardman and Mrs. Renaker.

Mrs. Douglas said that when they went to Cincinnati Leon Renaker suggested that Hardman go with them. The commonwealth objected on ground that this was a conversation with a man now dead who can not speak for himself. Wallace Ringo, of Richmond, testified that they came from Richmond to Winchester the night of July 24 to a dance at the Elks club. About 1 o'clock, Kreis said, he and his companion went to the river. He blew his horn two or three times, he said for the ferry boat. The ferry, he said, was on the other side of the river. A barge, he said, with music and dancing, was on the river and moved from the river bank to permit the ferry to land. Ringo, he said, called across the river to the ferrymen while the ferry was coming across the river. He said they were in a Hupmobile roadster without curtains.

Harvey Chenault Ringo stated that he called "River Rat" across the river, as this was Hardie Smith's nickname. Ringo said he didn't know how old the car he used was. He said they crossed the river about 1 o'clock. He declared he had not had anything to drink and could not get anything at the Elks' club here.

Robert Ashcraft, assistant attorney at Boonesboro, who was called next, said that he and Mr. Asher ran the ferry July 24 and Hardie Smith, who had worked the ferry that night, wasn't on the ferry. He denied he had said previously that he had borrowed $10 from Mr. Asher.

Mrs. Asher asserted that her husband was employed on the ferry July 24. She said Asher had now report Keller back to the house for contempt.

Keller In Contempt

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Dec. 16—Representative Keller, republican, of Minnesota, failed again today to appear before the House judiciary committee to testify as to the information on which he based impeachment charges against Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, chairman. Volstead announced the committee would now report Keller back to the house for contempt.

More Snow and Rain

Washington, Dec. 16—The week's weather forecast for the Ohio valley is rain or snow at the beginning, followed by generally fair until about Thursday when snow and rain are again probable, with temperatures below normal.

Frank Davis said that Scobee Hardman attended a birthday party at his home Monday night, July 24.

At the morning session, after Hardman had been asked a few unimportant questions, Reese Fox was called.

He did not.

"Do you remember what you

said to us at that time when you came up?"

"I told you Scobee Hardman was present at my house at dinner Friday after the murder."

Asked if he did not state that Hardman had dinner at his home with his wife, Hardman's sister, and that when Mrs. Douglas said the detectives had been down to Austerlitz he noticed a change in Hardman's expression and had never said so.

Fox said that on Monday, July 24, he saw Hardman once or twice during the day. He said he and Jim Nolcini took Miss Mabel Cunningham and her visitor from Tennessee to Boonesboro that night. On Monday night on his return from the river he and Carl Mahan made an engagement to go to Louisville the next day, he said.

Hardman got in his car about 11 o'clock, he said. They drove around a minute, went to Mrs. Douglas' home, talked a few minutes, then he went downtown between 11:30 and 12 o'clock and talked to Carl Mahan. After reaching home he asked his grandfather to wake him early the next morning as he was going to Louisville the next day, he said.

He told of being summoned to police headquarters and being questioned as to his whereabouts and Fox admitted that he told the officers that he didn't take Hardman home the night of July 24. After talking with the police he saw Hardman, he said, and asked him to tell him something that occurred the night of July 24 so that he might recollect taking him home. Hardman did this, he said, relating some conversation that they had that night which caused him to recollect having taken Hardman.

After talking with Hardman he went to police headquarters to correct his statement and tell the officers that he too had been riding together in automobiles to other places, there was nothing improper between Hardman and Mrs. Renaker.

Mrs. Douglas said that when they went to Cincinnati Leon Renaker suggested that Hardman go with them. The commonwealth objected on ground that this was a conversation with a man now dead who can not speak for himself. Ringo, he said, called across the river to the ferrymen while the ferry was coming across the river. He said they were in a Hupmobile roadster without curtains.

Hal Kreis, a traveling salesman, of Lexington, and Harvey Ringo, of Richmond, testified that they came from Richmond to Winchester the night of July 24 to a dance at the Elks club. About 1 o'clock, Kreis said, he and his companion went to the river. He blew his horn two or three times, he said for the ferry boat. The ferry, he said, was on the other side of the river. Ringo, he said, called across the river to the ferrymen while the ferry was coming across the river. He said they were in a Hupmobile roadster without curtains.

The girls' game also was an exciting contest, the score being 10 to 7 in Winchester's favor. Although the local feminine representatives fought hard, they did not show the experience Winchester did, which was the main cause for the defeat. Nancy Murphy, Marion Terrell and Lynn Evans played good games in their positions. They showed a great deal of class considering that the team is a green one, with little or no experience. They will be sure to develop into a winning five. The next games will be played at the Madison gym Thursday night against Lexington Model Hi. The girls' lineup:

Madison (7)—Moberly (2) rf; Evans (2) lf; Murphy c; Terrell (3) rg; Head lg.

Winchester (10)—Spencer (4) rf; Plummer (4) lf; Swope c; Sewell rg; Sutherland lg.

CO-OPS ASK BETTER LOAN LEGISLATION

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Dec. 16—Legislation making it possible for farmers to borrow from the Farm Loan Banks for nine month periods and in individual sums up to $25,000 was asked today in the legislative policy adopted by the Farmers' Co-operative Marketing Associations in convention here.

The Madison Hi boys' basketball five started the season off with a thrilling 18 to 16 victory over Winchester City Hi School at Winchester Friday night, Shirley Clouse shooting the winning goal just as the whistle blew.

In fact, the ball was in the air as the whistle sounded. The local boys played well throughout the game, passing best just before the close of the halves.

In the first half the Madison boys came from behind and forged ahead just before the half ended, mainly thru their excellent passing.

In the last half the story was repeated. The score stood 16 to 12 against Madison with only a few minutes to go. Clouse made two pretty goals, assisted by good passing from his teammates, tying the score.

The ball was once more carried down the floor ending in Higgins' hands who missed an almost certain goal.

The next play Captain Clouse dropped in the winning goal. He made 14 of the 18 scored by Madison and was the only man Winchester could not stop. This boy seems to have a banner year before him, Gentry and Hugely assisted by Terrill, who started at center, held the Winchester attack in check by their great defensive work. Hugely also accounted for two field goals. Jones broke into the lineup and played well.

David was the best for Winchester. He played a good floor game and was a fine shot from under the goal, making four field goals from that position. These boys passed well and have prospects for a fine team. The lineup:

Madison (18)—Clouse (14) rf; Higgins lf; Terrill c; Gentry rg; Hugely (4) lg.

Winchester (16)—Tobin (2) rf; Mansfield lf; David (10) c; Sutton (2) rg; Banks (2) lg.

Substitutes: Jones for Higgins; Higgins for Jones; Jones for Terrill.

Bible Thought For Today

JOY FOR WEEPING—The anger endureth but a moment; in his favour is life; weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning.—Psalm 30:5.

If names count for anything, Michigan's new senator, Mr. Conzans, ought to have a place on the committee on Foreign Relations.

Mr. LaFollette says he is willing to scrap both the old parties, also he might have added, he is still willing to scrap with both of them.

It is one of Bill's little paradoxes that "the unspeakable Turk" is to my causing more talk than anyone in the world.

The very special record established by the Purina "Majestic" from New York to Chehalis was probably the result of continuing the strong start they got in springing to get out of the three-mile zone.

WACO GIRLS WIN
TWO, LOSE ONE

Waco, Dec. 16—Waco High School teams play the rub game, or the two best of three, Friday night at Richmond. A county tournament had been arranged and cups were to be given to the best two teams in the county, but Kirkville and White Hall withdrew and the tournament was called off.

Union and Waco met at Richmond to play off the third game as the Waco boys were anxious to meet Union boys and Union girls were anxious to meet Waco girls.

The Waco girls had defeated the Union girls two games and were defeated by Union Friday night. The Waco boys have lost all three games to Union.

Union has the edge on Waco boys' basketball timber. They have more boys and older boys and plain to be seen, are superior to the Waco boys. However the game before the Richmond contest, resulted in a Union victory by only four scores.

Mr. Broaddus, Union coach, has done a good piece of work this year with his teams and deserves a great deal of credit. The two teams will probably meet again before the season is ended.

HE PAID $50,000
FOR A STRAWBERRY

(By Associated Press)

Three Rivers, Mich., Dec. 16—Frank E. Beatty, of Three Rivers, who started the horticultural world by paying $50,000 in cash for the privilege of developing a single variety of strawberry, admits that he owes his present position as one of the acknowledged leaders in the art of strawberry culture to fondness for his family.

Thirty years ago Mr. Beatty sold oil pumps in the intermountain and Pacific states. He resigned to come back to Michigan and to the family, although his business was highly remunerative. Interested in strawberries, Mr. Beatty turned to their culture. After thirty years in this business he has this to say: "I delight in developing or introducing a new variety of strawberry. Whatever success I have had is due largely to the cooperation between agricultural colleges and fruit growers.

"The new variety is the 'Rock Hill' bred by Barlow Rock Hill of Conrad, Iowa. It should revolutionize the strawberry industry of the world, as it produces more and larger berries and fruit of a higher quality in the summer than any of the best summer varieties. During the first months the plants again bear. The fruiting continues until snowfall and the plants do well in any climate.

"The plants root deeply, grow luxuriantly, single hill plants as large as a bushel basket, and their great vitality and vigor enable them to produce abundantly. The plants have tough leaves tissues and are not affected by any plant disease. The Rock Hill is a direct cross to 'Progressive' Everbearing, an early Jersey Giant."

Asked why he paid a heretofore unheard of price for a strawberry plant, Mr. Beatty said:

"I wanted to establish a standard of compensation that I expect to result in greater horticultural development than has resulted before. I wanted to awaken the public to an interest in horticulture and stimulate plant breeders to greater development. Money becomes a secondary consideration when we consider the well-being of all people."

Mr. Beatty has introduced four other varieties of strawberries that have become standard crops in many parts of the country. Mr. Beatty said that previously $500 was the largest amount he had paid for any one variety.

M'DONALD TALKS ON "PUBLIC SERVANT"

(Associated Press)

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 14.—Speaking before the Kentucky Association of Public Utilities here Donald McDonald, vice-president and general manager of the Louisville Gas & Electric Company, declared that the public should have proper information before attacking the public utilities. "The Public Servant" was the subject of Mr. McDonald's address.

"Prior to modern inventions, all of the services which are rendered by our various companies were performed by human servants. One servant drove the carriage, another brought in the fuel and lighted the fire, a third trimmed the lamps and kept them filled with oil, a fourth carried the messages," said Mr. McDonald.

"The modern public service corporation performs all of these services much better, much more quickly and for an immensely greater percent of the population at definitely less cost.

Mr. McDonald drew many comparisons from the Bible in his address on the relation of the public to the public utilities.

"All that the public utilities have a right to ask is that in public matters the public speak with one voice, that they speak through an authority which is recognized by both sides, and that that authority informs itself of the facts before it issues orders," said Mr. McDonald.

"The most momentous event in human history came about through the failure of a master to inform himself of the needs of his servants and to adopt a sympathetic attitude towards those needs. Pharaoh said to the children of Israel, 'Make bricks without straw; and the tale of the bricks shall not be diminished.'

In other words, these overburdened slaves must go into the fields and gather stubble, and in spite of the time lost in this way they must make bricks as they made them before, when the straw was delivered to them.

"Of course it resulted in great discontent and great wailing. The taskmasters beat the men, and many died under the harsh treatment. A leader arose—a leader always does arise. In this case his name was Moses probably the ablest man that ever appeared in history. He carried the case to Pharaoh. Pharaoh hardened his heart. The plagues followed and Pharaoh promised amelioration. But when the frogs and lice had gone, when the hail had passed away, when the thunder and lightning had rolled by and the skies were again clear, Pharaoh again hardened his heart. And then came the death of the first-born.

"From the first-born of the prisoner in the dungeon to the first-born of Pharaoh on his throne, there was not one house of the Egyptians in which there was not a dead man. Pharaoh yielded, tardily, of course, and grudgingly, but he yielded. He not only allowed them to go, but speeded their parting in every way—in fact, he thrust them out.

"From this great strike of overburdened laborers arose the nation whose culture, whose vigor and whose Christ has marked human history more than any other nation that has lived upon this earth.

"It frequently happens that the wrath of man is made to praise God; that the mistakes and stupidities and stubbornness of a utility on the one side, or of a municipality on the other, finally results in a better day for both sides. But the better day comes after plagues and storms. It is much better that each side should recognize the rights and the interest of the other. It is much better that the utility take care to be a good servant and that the municipality take care that it shall be a good master."

AGE OLD RECORD OF WORLD WARS

(Associated Press)

Jerusalem, Dec. 16.—On the face of a cliff in the Lebanon hills Rameses II, King of Egypt, well over 3,000 years ago ordered his stone carvers to inscribe a tablet setting forth his conquest of the land. The figures of the ancient Egyptian ruler and his men still are visible.

A few feet away one may see carved in the same rock by a British stone cutter, a record of the coming in September, 1918, of Field Marshall Sir Edmund H. Allenby, G. C. B., commander of the Allied forces in Asia Minor. And the passage of the centuries from B. C. 1300 to A. D. 1918 is recorded by various other carvings, in all not less than 12 and each describing the march of a victorious army.

The cliff selected for the carving of these historic records is at the mouth of the Dog river, 10 miles northeast of Beirut, in Syria. This strip of country link between the Lebanon and Egypt has been the bridge between the ancient empires of the Valley of the Nile and the Mesopotamia, and over it has passed the armies of the ancient, medieval and modern worlds.

The narrowest point is where the Lebanon mountains come close to the sea, and at this place Rameses II set the precedent of commemorating his conquests by hewing out a panel on the face of the cliff. His example has been followed by others through the centuries until now there are a dozen of them. They are all cut about four or five inches deep, from five to nine feet high, and from two to four and a half feet in width. The storms of more than three thousand years have beaten upon some of them, but still figures of the ancient Egyptian conquerors are easily discernible as they stand with their arms uplifted in an attitude of victory. The hieroglyphics have long since disappeared except to the trained eye of the archaeologist.

Several Assyrian conquerors led their armies through this pass, including the great Sennacherib, who threatened Jerusalem, but whose army was smitten by "the breath of the Lord", and for a century and a quarter the city was saved from its foes.

Alexander the Great led his conquering hosts through the same defile on his way to Egypt, and the Greek and Latin tablets tells of the conquests of the great kingdoms of southern Europe when the march of empires passed from Asia to Europe.

Coming down to recent history a tablet tells of the coming of the army of Louis Napoleon in 1860, when the massacres in the Lebanons called for European interference and France first set her foot in Syria. Nearly sixty years passed by, then the English

army led by General Allenby and assisted by the French, swept up like a whirlwind from the south four years ago and ended the rule of the Turks in the southern part of the Levant.

A panel has been cut in the cliff near those of the ancient Egyptians, telling of this great victory and bringing this wonderful record of history up to date.
